A HERITAGE

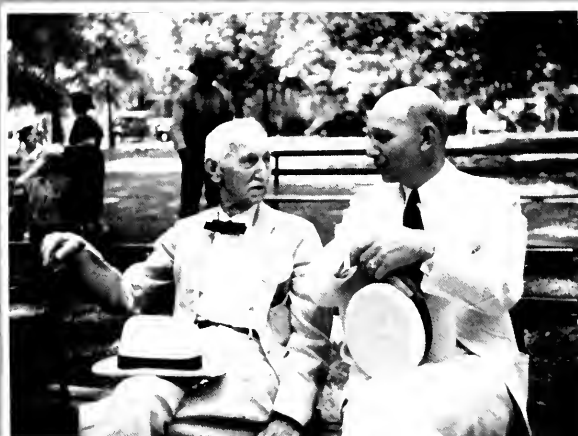

MORE LASTING THAN STONE

"I have not talked to you of discipline and rules, nor of the great traditions that through the century have hallowed this spot, created by the loving care and sacrifice of the splendid company that have gone before you in this institution. I assume that its traditions are as precious to you as they are to me, and I commit them to you, whose heritage they are, in absolute confidence that you will not only keep the faith, but transmit it to those who come after you with its light heightened and brightened . . .

This college should be and can be the most conspicuous achievement of this people. 'It can be more influential in making actual the dormant and inactive ideals of the State than any institution in the world has been—more serviceable, more admirable—a genuine triumph of youth and self-mastery, efficient training, and self-government.'

I commit it to you: the ark of the covenant of the fathers, your infinitely precious present possession, the saving hope and heritage of your children and their children's children."

President Edward Kidder Graham, at the formal opening of the 121st year of the University of North Carolina on September 8, 1915.

whose affection, loyalty and faithful adherence to the ideals of Carolina make us, the class of '39, proud to join their ranks, we wish to dedicate this issue of the YACKETY YACK

CHARLES THOMAS WOOLLEN

HENRY VAN PETERS WILSON

I N M E M O R I A M

The University of North Carolina has been made by great men—great men who have given their labor, their lives, their very souls to the development of young men and women. Such men were Henry Van Peters Wilson and Charles Thomas Woollen. Both men have been major factors in the upbuilding of the University from an institution with only a score of professors to its present position. Dr. Wilson has been a guiding hand for students during the past forty-five years. He has moulded the minds of scientists. Controller Woollen has shaped grounds, buildings, scientific equipment. He has been a vital power in expanding the University for the past thirty-seven years. Now both men, through their untiring energy, their true vision of what youth may become, are ideas of true worth, inspirations for the meaning of life. The students of the University, the citizens of the state mourn their loss. But from their lives there has been gained inspiration which shall be undying.

CONTENTS

There is no blinking at the fact that architecturally the buildings of the campus, with one or two notable exceptions, are aesthetically monstrous. Of the Y. M. C. A. some wag once said: "Thank God for ivy!"

But they have grown with one hundred and fifty years of campus life. Every building, or every group of buildings, denotes a different time and style of architecture. In this heterogeneous combination there is room for little to exclaim over, unless it is the magnificent beauty of the oaks, but there is much to love.

Each building with its associations, the well-trodden grass bespeaking human inconsistencies, the gravel walks and brick gutters; all together convey the sense of what these buildings are — the spirit of students and teachers for whom the campus is but a backdrop.

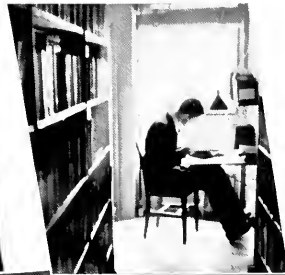

V I E W S

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Unquestionably the most popular building on the campus—three days before exams. This store-house of knowledge is the study haven of those driven by incessant noise and chatter from garrulity filled dormitories and fraternity houses. However, it loses most of its charm with the co-ed curfew.

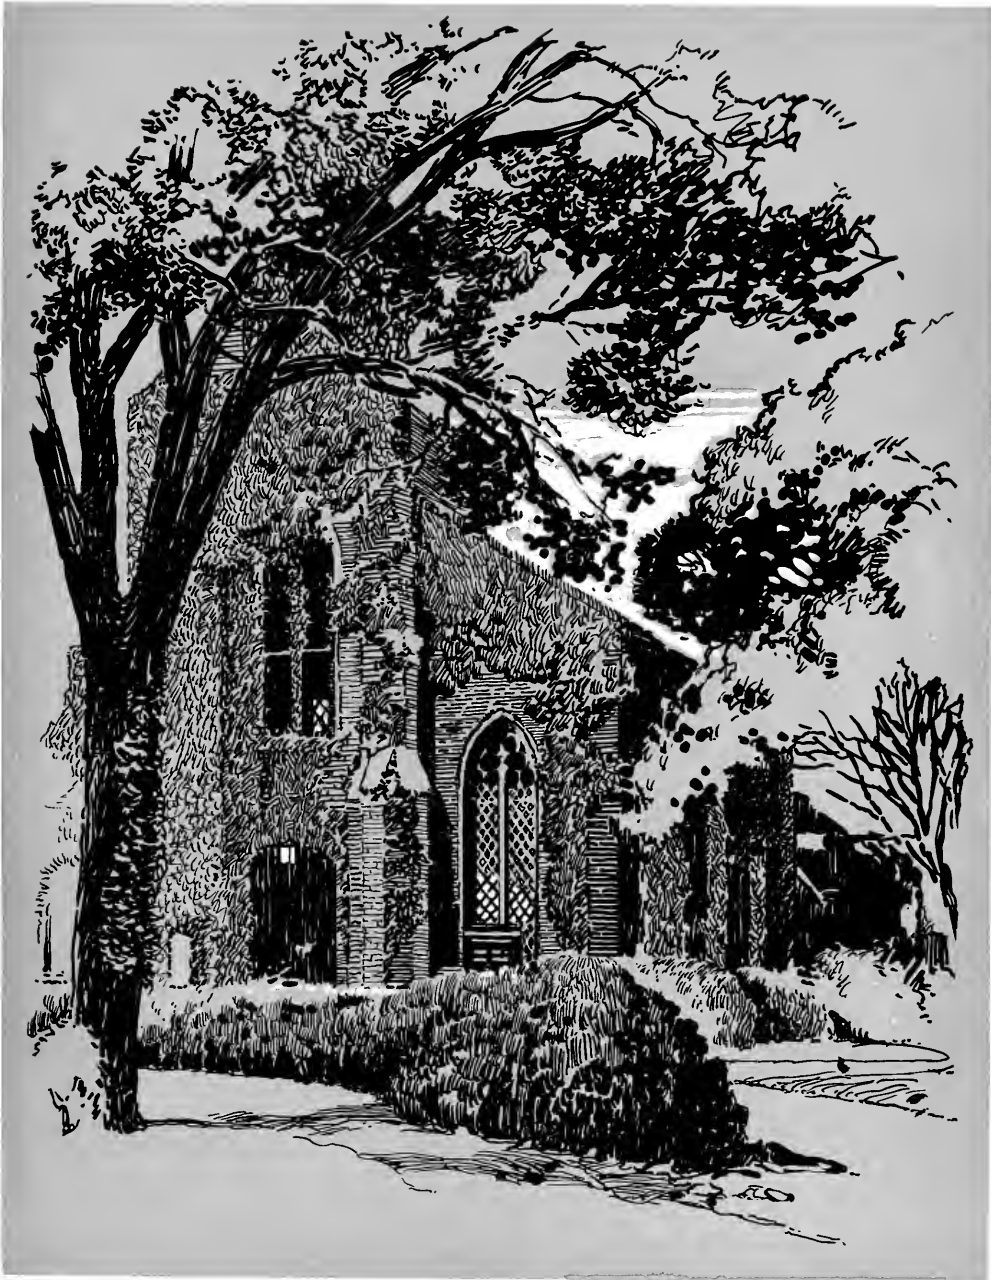

CHAPEL OF THE CROSS

A true symbol of old days in Chapel Hill, its glory is in its past. The Chapel of The Cross was modeled from designs in a book written by the first Bishop of Vermont, and built with slave labor during five years from 1843. Now too small for regular services, it will always be remembered for its restful beauty.

CORNELIA PHILLIPS SPENCER HALL

The home of co-eds, mice, and termites, the "shack" is the object of many a romantic-minded Romeo. Watching over her sheep is the house-mother, Mrs. Irene Lee, who combines guarding beautiful co-eds with the development of a tasteful, always-in-bloom garden.

PERSON HALL ART GALLERY

Some of the artists in the newly remodelled second oldest campus building regret losing the old dirt floor — they cannot sling paint around the way they used to. But out of the hot-house the installation of skylights has made the building, Harvard-trained Russell Smith has produced some fine creative artists.

THE PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

The far-famed Carolina Playmakers were smoked out of this, one of the oldest nests on the campus, when the entire interior was ruined by fire at the end of last summer. Commenting on the completely re-equipped theatre at the first bill of experimentals during the Winter Quarter, Proff Koch said: "It was a good fire!"

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

We leave behind and yet we take with us Chapel Hill as interpreted by our President, to which the class of 1939 has made, he has said, a rich contribution:

"In Chapel Hill among a friendly folk, this old University, the first state university to open its doors, stands on a hill set in the midst of beautiful forests under skies that give their color and their charm to the life of youth gathered here. Traditions grow here with the ivy on the historic buildings and the moss on the ancient oaks. Friendships form here for the human pilgrimage. There is music in the air of the place. To the artist's touch flowers grow beautifully from the soil and plays come simply from the life of the people. Above the traffic of the hour church spires reach toward the life of the spirit. Into this life, with its ideals, failures, and high courage, comes youth with his body and his mind, his hopes and his dreams. Scholars muster here the intellectual and spiritual resources of the race for the development of the whole personality of youth, and would make the University of North Carolina a stronghold of liberal learning with outposts of research along all the frontiers of the world. Great teachers on this hill kindle the fires that burn for Carolina men and women and light up the heavens of the commonwealth with the hopes of light and liberty for all mankind."

DEAN OF ADMINISTRATION

MY DEAR FRIENDS OF THE CLASS OF 1939:

You have been a part of the University during a dramatic and exciting period of its history. Inside the State and nation and outside in the whole world of affairs questions of the utmost moment have been impending during your entire college career.

I think that you have dealt with these questions intellectually and in terms of feeling and action with a fine self control and a splendid aptitude for genuine participation in the current world.

You have certainly, in addition, brought warmth, color, and exuberant vitality into the life of the University and the University community while you have been here. You have not been without particular problems in campus life and government. I think you have handled them well. Nothing on the negative side has occurred here but what you have developed something on the positive side to balance the situation and carry it forward.

You have developed fine leaders in all aspects of healthy student life, and I think permanent qualities of leadership are evident in your class. At the same time, I have the utmost faith in the great body of the class — men and women who are not yet conspicuous and do not desire to be, but who in the quiet processes of study, work, play, and imaginative fellowship have been laying the basis for significant and beautiful living.

You graduate with the friendship and sincere good will of all of us who have been privileged to associate with you here.

DEAN OF STUDENTS

TO THE CLASS OF 1939:

Your graduation year comes just 150 years after your Alma Mater was chartered by the new-formed legislature of North Carolina. When the legislature of 1789 projected for this State a democratic provision for higher education, all of Europe could have laughed at such presumption. Government was then the prerogative of royal families. Without such divinely ordained guidance, the belief was, men could have no government.

However, those patriots of a century and a half ago wagered their lives and the destiny of their children on the assumption that freedom and enlightenment could develop in men the leadership of conscientious intelligence.

Then North Carolina, with less than 400,000 citizens scattered throughout her forests was exceeded in population only by Pennsylvania and Virginia. That these and ten lesser commonwealths strung along the edge of a vast wilderness have within the century and a half grown so in space, numbers, wealth, power, and significance, is surely one of the great dramatic facts of history.

Now this young colossus of 48 states with 60 per cent of the world's gold, with frontiers in Guam and on the Rhine, faces again the issue of its birth. Can free men freely regulate their personal and collective action by intelligence and conscience? Can we "build here a government" of wisdom and justice?

May your graduation be but the beginning of a richer partnership between you and Chapel Hill, in which you shall fight for her liberty and she shall guarantee you and your children light.

SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

In point of time the oldest college of the University, the College of Arts and Sciences is concerned in guiding students, already possessed of the fundamentals of college training, so that they may get the most for their effort out of the last two years of their college work. The system now in force at the university is a gradual development from the older disciplines still used in some American schools, in which the entire course of study for the four years is prescribed. Such a system does not allow for individual differences and is too rigidly narrow for a liberal arts college. It was long ago abandoned here. Historically there followed a period of more or less free choice of courses, with a minimum of fixed requirements; the inevitable result was that the student often chose courses for reasons other than their content or he chose all his work in a single field and thus could hardly be said to have had a liberal education. The College of Arts and Sciences has attempted a compromise which keeps over-specialization at a minimum and allows as much election as is possible without depriving the curriculum of all semblance of plan and purpose.

In spite of the experimentation now going on in American colleges, nobody is yet sure just what an A.B. degree should be more than a block of courses on a transcript: it should be a discipline and an attitude of mind. We now try to insist that the student who earns a degree in the college must have a body of organized knowledge about a recognized field of learning, a fund of more generalized information about fields ancillary to his own, and if possible, some knowledge of the world about him which will fit him to live as well as earn a living. At the heart of the college are the libraries and the laboratories. Professors are guides and counsellors: but in the last analysis students educate themselves. With an A.B. degree, the student should have a foundation upon which to build a career and a life.

GENERAL COLLEGE

The General College has a special interest in the members of the class of 1939 who came to Chapel Hill in the first year of its work. At the end of this Senior year it is appropriate for the class, the advisers, and the faculty to consider what our present opportunities are and how we may meet them.

The student of today lives in and must prepare for a world of economic dislocation, political violence, and emotional strain. How can the University contribute to his achievement of the good life? First, we must be interested in him as an individual. From parents, former teachers, and his own experience we must obtain more complete information and use it discerningly in helping him to know himself.

Second, we must adapt the University's resources still more discriminatingly to the student's needs. Diagnostic tests, advanced standing, remedial assistance, and individualized curricula will be multiplied. Somewhere between the extremes of anarchic diversity and rigid uniformity we may find for each person a program which will embody the values of general education and carry on the wholesome development of individual interests. In order to act upon the familiar fact that students are different it will be necessary to try out more diversified offerings and more varied combinations of subjects. Accepting the necessity of self-education, we shall shift the emphasis from teaching to learning, from instruction of groups to conferences with individuals.

Third, the distinctive character of the University must be defended. We shall be hospitable to new personalities and new ideas, tolerant of opposition, eager for improvement, and steadfast in maintaining our tradition and our freedom. In this endeavor, faculty, students, and graduates join hands and wills for the building of a finer University in a greater State.

SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

The School of Commerce is the expression of the University's desire to serve the large percentage of young people who will go into some phase of business activity but who cannot spend more than four years in preparation for such a career. Recognizing the need of a general understanding of our complex modern civilization as a basis for a happy and effective life, the first two years of the course of study, given in the General College, emphasize the broad cultural aspects of education. The last two years, given in the School of Commerce, are devoted primarily to the development of an understanding of the principles and procedures of modern business. The teaching policy of the School assumes that training for business should consist not only of a knowledge of the organization and methods of the most important fields of business activity but in addition should develop an understanding of the problems and larger relationships of the economic system as a whole. In the attempt to give the student a practical basis for his life, care is taken that he shall not lose sight of his social obligations or his cultural needs.

SCHOOL OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

Looking backward over the seven years since the School was opened in September 1931, many specific evidences of healthy growth may be seen. Today there are 201 alumni scattered in libraries from North Carolina to California and from northern Wisconsin to Louisiana, though the concentration is naturally in the Southeast. A search of printed indexes to periodical literature shows a few names of alumni, a 1938 book of library plays lists one by a member of the class of 1938. The Summer Session now finds the School sending classes to borrowed lecture rooms in a nearby building, having six faculty members instead of the usual three, and a student body three times as large as that during the regular session.

The administration of the School is looking forward to the day when there will be a larger staff in order to provide more satisfactorily for the growing body of alumni and students. There is need for a faculty member, expert in school library work, who would direct the practice work of those students interested in school libraries; give special courses in school library organization and administration; and have charge of the courses for teacher-librarians. There should also be a librarian to take care of the School's special book collection and give expert service to the faculty and students, and a reviser to assist the instructors in revising the many and varied problems involving written work. Tentative plans have been drawn for expanded quarters in the hoped-for new wing of the library. These include a seminar room for courses in book discussion, an additional combination study and library room, and additional faculty offices. Indexes are being compiled which will make it possible to assemble quickly information about the alumni from various points of view. Thus, regardless of the nature of the employer's request, the information could be readily assembled.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

The present School of Pharmacy, now in its forty-second year, has had two predecessors—one school that lasted from 1890 to about 1885 and another from 1888 to the early nineties. In 1897 the organized pharmacists of the State successfully petitioned the board of trustees to establish here a school of pharmacy on the same basis as other departments of instruction. This having been done, the School has developed steadily in respect to faculty, equipment, and curriculum.

Organized pharmaceutical education in this State has always been confined exclusively to this University. Such a condition is unique in that no other branch of learning in North Carolina is limited to one institution. The local school treats this trust as an inspiration and as a guiding force; as a challenge to be met to the limit of its abilities and not as a monopoly to be enjoyed as a special dispensation.

The science of Pharmacy consists essentially of discovering, manufacturing, and distributing preventive or curative drugs. This brief definition embraces efforts that are of a manifold character; efforts which require several different sorts of specialized practitioners who must be educated according to the service each sort is expected to render. The basis training for all is substantially the same, but beyond this base, which should be sound, adaptive educational processes must begin that are calculated to fit each graduate to meet successfully the obligations of his chosen field of pharmaceutical effort. The local school is dedicating its thinking and its energies towards providing its students with such curricula as will enable each, according to his interest and talents, to pursue any one of the several forms of practice that collectively compose pharmacy.

In the pursuit of this complete program, the School has yet a distance to travel, although such parts as are now provided are given in an effective way. With an increased staff, with additional facilities, and with a broader schedule of graduate offerings, the entire program can and will be provided. At the present time the School has three elective specialized curricula that begin in the fourth year, together with advanced studies offered under the direction of the Graduate School leading to the masterate degree.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

During the past academic year the new medical building for the Medical School and the Division of Public Health has reached the stage of completion, so that the Medical School and the Division of Public Health anticipate commencing their work for the coming academic year in the new medical building.

The entire ground floor of the building has been allocated to the Division of Public Health in order that this important Division of Public Health activity cannot only continue to serve the Public Health officials and sanitarians by offering short courses, but that this Division of the Medical School will now find itself in such a position that it can offer work at the graduate level of the University's activities. The remaining three floors of the building are equally divided between the departments of Anatomy, Bacteriology, Biochemistry, Pathology, Pharmacology and Physiology. The fifth floor of the building is air conditioned and will be devoted largely to housing both large and small laboratory animals. With the completion of the animal kennels and other rooms on the fifth floor there will likely not be a more completely equipped confine for animals in any of the medical laboratory buildings in this country. This floor contains two modernly developed operating rooms separated by a sterilizing room from which there opens a room for keeping sterile material to be used in connection with the animals. The building contains a large and beautifully appointed reading room and space for a library of 50,000 volumes.

As a result of the recent action of the North Carolina legislature, in conjunction with a similar action by the special session of the legislature last summer, the University has available a sum of $75,000.00 which, with an amount saved in the erection of the building, will completely equip it for the most modern type of scientific medical service.

SCHOOL OF LAW

Founded in 1843 as a private school by Judge William H. Battle, the School of Law was incorporated, in 1899, into the University of North Carolina. Today it has a full-time faculty of eight members and a library of 40,000 volumes in charge of two law librarians and a staff of assistants. With a minimum admission requirement of three years of college work, it offers a three-year course leading to the degrees of LL. B. and J. D. It is on the approved list of the North Carolina and New York Boards of Law Examiners and of the American Bar Association. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools, and is one of thirty law schools in which a chapter of the honorary society of the ORDER OF THE COIF has been established.

The North Carolina Law Review, edited by a joint student-faculty staff, goes to one thousand North Carolina lawyers and to law libraries throughout the world.

The law building, Manning Hall, was erected in 1923 and named for John Manning, from 1881 to 1899 a distinguished member of its faculty. Modern in every respect and notable for unusual beauty of design, it is already inadequate for the present needs of the school. It is hoped that an additional wing may be constructed in the near future to house more efficiently the law library and the research and publication services.

Carr Dormitory, adjacent to Manning Hall, has been set aside for the exclusive occupancy of law students as a residential law club.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

The Graduate School in the session 1938-1939 is enjoying one of its most successful years. The enrollment for the fall quarter was 450; 67 new students registered in the winter, making the total to date 517. It is expected that the registration in the spring will carry the enrollment for the year beyond the six hundred mark.

Within recent years new graduate curricula were established in such subjects as comparative linguistics, music, and social work. This expansion in program is thought of as fully justified, and it has, in our judgment, brought additional values to the University. Committees of the Administrative Board and of the graduate faculty are now at work on plans and proposals for a graduate curriculum in public health and for a major in bacteriology. Another committee has under consideration some important modifications in requirements for the master's degree in Education. Plans have been put into effect during the past two years making possible instructional cooperation with Duke University in such fields as the classics, comparative linguistics, and sociology.

As to the future, it is hoped that the Graduate School will continue to entertain an ideal of excellence as the controlling principle of practice. It is hoped that the Graduate School will be an increasingly used, and usable, laboratory of investigation for North Carolina and for the South.

The University is greatly indebted to its one hundred Trustees. Named here are twenty-five who have just completed an eight-year term of service, and who have faithfully backed the President in efforts to build a greater University of North Carolina.

The Board of Trustees acts on recommendations of the President or on its own initiative in forming the policies of the University. During this year's fight in the Legislature to raise the tuition rates and reduce the appropriations, the Trustees stood firmly behind the President's policy of no raise in tuition and no reduction in appropriations. They were instrumental in curtailing these two pieces of legislation, which would have crippled the school and kept many students from attending

Located at Chapel Hill in the Carolina Inn, which as an alumni clubhouse and community "parlor" was the gift of the John Sprunt Hill family of Durham to the University, is the Central Alumni Office of the General Alumni Association.

The Association is an all-University organization, embracing in its membership graduates and former students ranging in classes from the oldest alumnus to the youngest graduate. The Association was formed in 1843. Through its Central Office, its local alumni clubs, its permanently organized classes, its General Assembly, and its "Alumni Review," the Association endeavors to maintain a program making it easy for the 22,000 living alumni to continue their relationship with Alma Mater.

In its Alumni Office the Association maintains records of all alumni, including up-to-date addresses, vital statistics, occupations, and other memorabilia. The Association is alert in promoting such public occasions as commencement, home-comings, and University Day. The Central Office carries on correspondence with thousands of alumni, complying with requests ranging from personal questions to projects concerning the entire University.

Through the columns of "The Alumni Review" — the official magazine — alumni members are enabled to keep up with affairs in Chapel Hill and in the big alumni family. General in its service to the University and personal in its relationship to the alumni, the Alumni Association endeavors to link the Past with the Present for the Future of Alma Mater.

Any graduate or former student is eligible for membership in the Association. Only those who belong to the Association participate in its elections and receive its magazine.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA ALUMNI

The choice of alumni presented on these pages is intended to be symbolic of the wide range of achievement among the University's twenty-two thousand living former students. In no sense can this year's selection be regarded as a complete honor roll of University of North Carolina alumni. The men pictured here, by their attainment in diverse fields of endeavor, have reflected honor and credit upon the University. They are identified widely as distinguished and loyal alumni of the University. The University may point with justifiable pride to these sons and others like them who in their communities and among their associates wear well the title: a Carolina man.

Carolina students have in self-government such few student bodies in this country enjoy. Virtually nowhere are students given so free a rein in the handling of their problems of every nature and of regulating their lives as are we at Chapel Hill. Carolina men who have taken their place in the annals of history and have become the salt of the citizenry of North Carolina and the country over have developed their leadership, formulated their attitudes, and built their background here in the wholesome atmosphere of Carolina student government.

From the first years of the University's life, students made known their desire to have some say in the community in which they were a large part. A sympathetic administration encouraged these interests and gradually conceded to student responsibility a number of student problems. As a consequence students now perform the functions of regulating almost all kinds of student interests with authority to act and govern at their own discretion, setting up and enforcing their own standards of honor and decency, regulating their dances, editing their publications uncensored from any quarter, running their dormitory life according to their own liking, and bringing to the University platform speakers whom they like to hear.

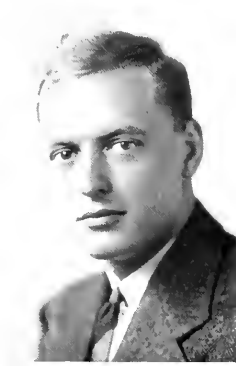

This independence, guided by faculty cooperation, is the best means of accomplishing the end of a happy college community life. The great degree of student responsibility is the means for developing leadership and of effecting self-government.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is that elected organization of the Student Body whose duty it is, among other administrative duties, to impose penalties upon violators of the University of North Carolina Honor and Campus Codes. Under these broad headings every student in the university is placed upon his honor not to lie, cheat, or steal, and agrees to conduct himself in a gentlemanly manner at all times. This freedom given the students is a wonderful means for creating a sense of honor, independence, and self-reliance in them.

Yet there are those who fail to accept their responsibility and who act in such a way as to be detrimental to the campus welfare. It is these persons, persons who do not live up to campus standards, whom the Student Council must deal with. The reporting of violators is left to the students as a whole, and they respond well to help maintain campus honor and morals.

DEES

Persons accused of such violations appear before the eleven elected men to answer to their guilt or innocence. After careful searching for facts beforehand, and after careful deliberation at the time the case is called, the Council passes sentence. The word of witnesses is highly regarded, but one man's word against another's is not considered conclusive evidence. Unless confession takes place, there must be two or more witnesses, or, in cases of cheating, a definitely marked paper, to convict.

Numerous cases yearly come before the Council to be dealt with in the most deliberate and careful manner so as to do justice to all.

Other matters of campus importance confront the Council from time to time and are conscientiously handled.

Throughout the year the Council holds several banquet meetings with the Faculty Executive Committee and the Woman's Association Council to better the understandings between these groups.

The tasks of this highest organ of Student Government are many and important in nature. Student control functions well through this elected body.

Through four of the shortest years of our lives, we have striven to take unto ourselves those ideals and heritages so ably afforded by our great University. In work and in play, we have constantly felt that indefinable air of tradition and good fellowship that has been so prevalent in our environment here.

Being in a position to observe rather than to practice, we have been able to weigh, deduct, and benefit by the problems which have confronted the world. Through these problems our learned teachers have shown and helped us to understand the great responsibility that will inevitably be ours. For this sympathetic and able guidance, we are overwhelmingly grateful.

May we have the power to uphold and to continually foster those beliefs and conclusions that have been instilled in us here, keeping constantly in mind that spirit so emblematic of the true Carolina alumnus.

The Junior Class is beginning the last lap in its four year career at the University. Our three years have been and will be of inestimable benefit to every member of the class. They have been the most fruitful and the happiest years of our lives.

In this distinguished seat of learning we have had the most complete educational advantages with which, combined with the policy of liberalism promulgated by the University, we have broadened the scope of our mind and enhanced our usefulness.

Upon entering the University as a freshman one soon becomes permeated with that intangible spirit which has been held so dear to Carolina men. Each of us has become a part of that spirit and close union. We are looking forward to the future with eager anticipation, but at the same time with regret of the thought of leaving. It is our hope that before the culmination of our college career we may make some definite contribution toward the University's progress.

We are justly proud of our class as a unit and of its individual members in curricula as well as extra-curricula activities. We are proud of our Alma Mater, of our faculty, and of our student body—these are a source of constant inspiration to us.

May we during the coming year continue this progress so well begun, and in the years to come ever be a credit to ourselves and to this great institution.

The 1939 YACKETY YACK is essentially a synopsis of the school year. Although every effort has been made for an attractive presentment, the primary purpose of recording has not been subordinate to an irrelevant art or literary theme.

The staff has worked tediously to give as nearly as possible a complete pictured roll of all the students. The major athletic events are here perpetuated, and the membership and activities of the several campus organizations have been given permanent recognition. But these phases of the school year are not all the memories we wish to keep. We have tried to present impressions of the University, the campus and its buildings, the dances and everyday incidents, in a style which will easily recall them to you. We hope the book will always impart dear and lasting memories of the University, and will be truly representative of your year on the Hill.

The Carolina BUCCANEER was created in 1924. This is its 15th year of publication. The first editor of the BUCCANEER, Earl Hartsell, stated in his first editorial, "THE BUCCANEER IS A CAREFREE, IRRESPONSIBLE, DON'T-GIVE-A-DAMN SORT OF MAGAZINE." It is the same today.

Born in a great University of the South, the BUCCANEER has ever reflected the southern temperament in its lighter moods. If it is lusty, risqué, cynical, so too sometimes are the people from whence it comes. Here we doubt the smile of subtle, ornate sophistication. Here we laugh out loud with the mouth and the eyes, with honesty.

This year the BUCCANEER, its staff and its editor, has tried sincerely to give to its student public an occasional moment of idle enjoyment. Our single purpose, to interest and amuse. However well was this achieved, the staff enjoyed the work and profited. Artists, photographers, writers, with pen, or camera or words, each grew to know his instrument and the siren call to the printed page. If this awakened talents which the future will sustain, the many nights were worth the many candles.

Believing that THE CAROLINA MAGAZINE is a publication of unlimited scope and possibility, the editors changed its emphasis from a miscellaneous collection of student essays, fiction and verse to one of central purpose and theme. The transition was first effected in the October Thomas Wolfe issue with the aid of outside writers.

had been accepted by the campus, campus writers were largely depended on for the execution of the various themes. On the whole the idea has been a success and, as long as the themes selected for the issues are of current importance, shows promise in continuing successful. With careful handling THE CAROLINA MAGAZINE can become a student organ of responsible discussion of important campus issues.

The Purpose of the DAILY TARHEEL in this its 47th year, has been an effort to present in readable form a kaleidoscopic view of University life, to accurately reflect news events of the campus on the front page, and to interpret that news in the editorial columns.

The front and sports pages have attempted to present the campus with a day-by-day account of campus life in a campus tone regarding meetings of student groups that were of a collective interest, prying up individual incidents that were significant in the campus stream of change, and always searching for human interest that would color the more routine happenings.

Whereas all points of view have been given their place in the paper from jittersbug humor to ultra-liberalism — either in news

...the letters column or feature columns, the editorial column has necessarily been an expression of the point of view of the editor. That point of view has included above all, a proclivity for truthfully attempting to sift out of practical, real situations all that might lead to misinterpretation and sensationalism, and presenting the essential nature of the conflicts involved in campus problems. For those who prefer to listen to brass bands and enjoy the colorful nature of things seen on their surface, the column may, regrettably have failed to include a respected point of view.

The motivating ambition, held consistently in mind but unfully realized, has been to synthesize the reality of things as they are with the ideals of things as they ought to be.

Every student at the University is a member of the Publications Union which has as its governing body a group of five men constituting the Publications Union Board. Three of the members of this board are elected from the student body, the two remaining members are appointed from the faculty by the Dean of Administration. Meeting with the Board is also a faculty advisor who acts as agent of the Board but has no vote.

The Publications Union Board exercises general supervision over the four student publications—the DAILY TAR HEEL, BUCCANEER, MAGAZINE, and YACKETY YACK. It appoints all salaried officers of these publications with the exception of the Editors-in-Chief who are elected by the Union. The Board controls expenditure of publications fees, makes all printing and engraving contracts, is responsible for the financial well-being of each publication, usually refrains from attempting control of editorial policy.

LEAR

These thirteen organizations cover a diverse field in politics, student government, music and religion.

The Carolina Political Union and its chairman, Voit Gilmore, scored the year's biggest sensation by persuading Franklin D. Roosevelt to come down to Chapel Hill and speak in Woollen Gymnasium.

The Phi Assembly and the Di Senate continued their time-worn forensic habits by discussing such varied topics as "Should America form an alliance with Great Britain?" and "Should the coed curfew be extended a half-hour?" (Said Mickey Warren, "I'd rather spend that half-hour outside the Shack than inside. There's more future in it.") The International Relations Institute sponsored several student-faculty round table discussions on social, economic and political matters over WPTF. It also gave a successful card dance during the fall quarter.

The Interdormitory Council continued to be a potent campus force with its campaigning for dormitory social rooms and its power to eject all misbehaved students from the dorms. The University Club, the campus spirit organization, sponsored pep rallies and made posters for the student parade in Raleigh.

The Y.M.C.A. is still the religious center of the University, the home of Tempe Newsome and a breeding ground for politicians. The Hillel Foundation provides Jewish students with their weekly and holiday services.

In the music field, the University Band played at concerts and at football games—and did both with equal proficiency. The Men's Glee Club also gave concerts and had a group picture taken which drove the publications crazy trying to find out the names of each of the 50-odd members.

Kappa Psi and Delta Sigma Pi are the pharmacy and newly reorganized commerce fraternities, respectively.

And Graham Memorial, of course, occupies a unique shrine of its own.

The University Club is composed entirely of members of the Junior Class. With one representative from every dormitory and fraternity on the campus and with four representatives on the Executive Board, it is probably the most representative group on the campus and the one in closest contact with every phase of campus life. Being so closely fused with campus life, the Group can quickly determine campus opinion, foresee the degradation of certain phases of student activity, and act as a helping hand to keep interest in student projects and organizations alive and flourishing.

Carrying out its motto—FOR THE UNIVERSITY—the Club presents itself for service at all times whenever such services are in the interest of and for the benefit of the University, or the Student Body. Through its close connection with the Athletic Association, the Club seeks to promote and maintain a high enthusiasm and a high spirit of sportsmanship in all University events and contests. In the sponsorship of pep rallies and mass meetings.

In cooperating with the General Alumni Office in its attempt to foster widespread interest in the University and its activities, in prospective students and in keeping alive alumni interest, this Group presents several radio programs each year which are carried over practically the entire South. As a means of acquainting High School students more fully with the University and their friends there, the Club also arranges for the holding of informal meetings in many of the North Carolina cities.

The last phase of the work which this group undertakes concerns itself with the improvement of inter-school relations. Members of the Club meet all visiting athletic teams, show them about the campus, and entertain them during their stay in Chapel Hill in an effort to make their visit more pleasant and to improve the good will between the different schools.

THE STUDENT UNION

Graham Memorial is the building that symbolizes what we would like the spirit of the Student Union to be. More than being a center in which students may lounge, eat, work at publications and organizations, and have their hair cut, it has come to signify something of the ideal of student enterprise and self-government which characterizes life at Chapel Hill.

The Union is the student body, and it has levied fees on itself to provide maintenance for the physical facilities necessary to the operation of activities within its organization. Thus, it is possible to provide offices without rent to all the publications and their business staffs, to the Order of the Grail, the International Relations Club, the Student Council and the Women's Association. In addition, a banquet hall with four meeting rooms is constantly available for scheduled gatherings.

To take part in the round of activity associated with these facilities—to have been a reporter on the TAR HEEL, to have listened to a panel discussion in the main lounge, to have attended a Sunday afternoon concert or an amateur hour—is to have really touched student life at Carolina. It will have been an experience in self-determined participation—an introduction to the essential process of individual growth.

The program of the Union has been supplementary to those interests already expressed within it by organized groups, and it will continue to follow this policy. Sunday afternoon concerts by visiting artists, recording concerts, art exhibits, union forums, community sings and amateur programs—are all examples of such an approach.

But there is much that could be done to improve Union program, with a greater contribution to the individual student in mind. A closer study of the needs and interests of students, together with the development of techniques for finding channels of expression for those interests, should point the way to an improved service.

To bring the unoccupied student in touch with some organized interest group is a crying need on the campus, and one which should be filled by the Union. Some new fields require additional equipment and more building space, such as a student recreation hall for dancing, or equipment for handicraft activities. But with progressive student thought applied to the needs of individuals, and with some assistance from administration and alumni, Graham Memorial will become ever less a SYMBOLIC, and more a CONCRETE expression of the spirit of the Student Union.

The Philharmonic Assembly, one of the oldest literary societies in the United States, came into existence in 1795. Its organization was fostered by a group of students who desired a means of expressing student opinion collectively. During the first years of the assembly's existence and until a few decades ago it served as a part of the student government of the University. At present the student body is so large that the assembly cannot include as large a proportion of the student body as it did in the past, when every student was enrolled in one of the two literary societies. For this reason, it now serves as a representative assembly to sound out student opinion.

The purposes of the assembly have changed very little from year to year, but at present the "Phi" is setting as its aim the presentation of a series of interesting current questions to the student body. The "Phi" in the next few years is destined to gain the prestige it so deserves.

Having the prestige of being the oldest organization on the campus of the University of North Carolina, the Dialectic Senate was organized June 3, 1795. Since the opening of the doors of this oldest State University the "Di" as it is known on the campus has offered to the student training in public speaking, parliamentary procedure, and character development.

For many years the Di and Phi literary societies were the leading organizations on the campus. Out of these two organizations has grown the CAROLINA MAGAZINE, student government, endowment of the University Library, and intercollegiate debating activities. During the early years of the organization it was a requirement that all students belong to one of the societies. To be thrown out of either group was to be expelled from school.

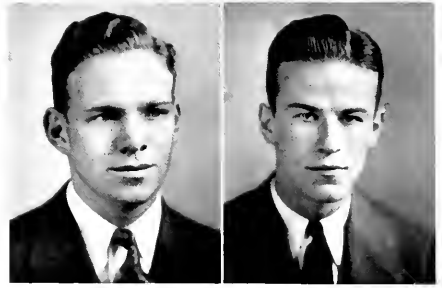

Out of this cultural background has grown the present Dialectic Senate. Students now join at their own initiative and during the past few years the organization has grown considerably. At present the activities are centered around weekly discussion on topics of local, state, and national importance. The students who take part in these discussions are the type who are interested in becoming familiar with parliamentary procedure and furthering their public speaking ability. Thus a Senior who has been a member of the Senate throughout his college career finds himself fully equipped to meet the needs of public oration and organization control when he leaves this college.

The Carolina Political Union is a non-partisan organization controlled and operated by a group of twenty-five students. It brings to the campus outstanding representatives of varying political and social viewpoints in an effort to stimulate student thinking, as well as emphasizing pertinent issues by means of campus polls and student forum discussions.

The Union's activities this year were highlighted by the visit of President Roosevelt to its Third Anniversary exercises in Woollen Gymnasium on December 5, and by the program on March 30 when "America's Town Meeting of the Air" was its guest in Memorial Hall.

Among the Union's speakers during the year were Miss Frances Perkins, Mr. Frank McNinch, Mr. John Hamilton, Senator Josiah Bailey, Mr. Boake Carter, Mr. Heywood Broun and Mr. Robert S. Allen.

The International Relations Club grew out of the merger of the old Foreign Policy League, the League of Nations Council, and the Carolina League for International Cooperation. The clubs temporarily combined to hold the first International Relations Conference at Chapel Hill for southeastern colleges in 1939. The combination proved so effective that the clubs decided to remain permanently as the International Relations Club.

The club, which now consists of 60 members, signifies a medium for the discussion of varying and opposite points of view. It presents a weekly discussion in Graham Memorial where faculty members lead round tables, and students of the club present panels and forums. In addition, the club presents two weekly broadcasts over WDNC in Durham, and WPTF in Raleigh. The broadcast in Durham is known as the "International Scene" and, conducted by a group of students, it is a fifteen minute commentary on the weekly set-up of news events in the international field. The broadcast in Raleigh is known as "The University of North Carolina Round Table" which is a half hour discussion of timely topics by student members and faculty alike. Notable among these was an all-girl discussion of "Communism and Fascism".

In addition the club holds an international relations conference for southeastern college students, bi-annually alternating with the Human Relations Institute. The club also has been building a library of about three hundred books in its office, which books have been sent monthly by the Carnegie foundation, in New York City.

In brief, the club has tried to be a medium for intimate discussion, giving the student information on international problems, a chance to disseminate knowledge as such, the chance to broadcast, and the opportunity to appear in public programs.

The Hillel Foundation was organized on the campus in the fall of 1946. It is one of 13 foundations operating at American and Canadian universities.

The purpose of the foundation is to meet the religious and cultural needs of Jewish students. It serves to orient the Jewish student to the complex problems and conditions confronting the Jew today. As part of this program, religious services are conducted both in the Reform and Orthodox rituals. Opportunity is afforded interested students to engage in discussion of Jewish problems and the study of Hebrew and Jewish history. The foundation also conducts a forum in which the outstanding Jews of our time have participated.

The affairs of the foundation are administered by the students through the agency of a cabinet and officers selected by the Jewish student body.

Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical fraternity was founded at the Medical College of Virginia on December 15, 1879. The organization was the first Greek-letter society established in the colleges of Pharmacy in the United States. It is the one and only strictly Pharmaceutical fraternity which limits its chapters to colleges of Pharmacy holding membership in the American Association of colleges of Pharmacy.

This, the Beta Xi chapter, was established at the University of North Carolina in 1915, embodying the following Charter members: Dean J. G. Beard, R. A. McDuffie, E. D. Kyser, R. H. Andrews, J. L. Henderson, W. W. Allen, F. J. Andrews, N. L. Beach, F. N. Patterson, R. H. Mann, G. G. Blackwelder. A graduate chapter was established at Raleigh, North Carolina November 15, 1938 by J. C. Brantly, Jr. embodying the following charter members: H. H. Price, J. L. Creech, C. E. Page. The chapters of both classes enjoy equal rights and privileges.

Kappa Psi, since its origin, has sought to attain the highest ideals in the profession of Pharmacy, and surrounds its members in an atmosphere of companionship, congeniality, and integrity.

In 1925 the Alpha Lambda chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, Professional Commerce fraternity, was founded on the campus of the University of North Carolina. For nine years it prospered, but when the debacle of 1929 to 1933 paralyzed the nation, Alpha Lambda bowed out.

Then in 1938, on March 26, a new order reorganized the chapter, and under the leadership of Warren Haddaway and a group of faithful and industrious undergraduates the chapter now completes its first year.

Delta Sigma Pi is dedicated to the professional service of men in the field of commerce and economics, and works to bring the campus speakers from the business world, movies of industrial production, and a placement bureau for commerce and economics graduates.

In addition to invading political realms formerly controlled by men, the coeds possess a strongly-knit and potent self-governing body of their own—the Woman's Association. All female students automatically belong to it and dire consequences are the result if they fail to memorize the rules in the association's handbook or neglect coming to its periodic meetings when summoned. The executive body, the Woman's Council, consists of seven representatives and wields the same kind of power that the Student Council does with the men. The girls on the council cry a good deal more at their sentences than the boys but they can be just as strict. Here are tried all coed violators of the honor system, the campus code and regulations for women—those who make too much disturbance, those who come home too late at night and those who don't bother coming home at all. And many a coed after receiving that fatal notice has packed her bags beforehand, prepared for any eventuality.

The YWCA is more socially and less politically minded than its brother organization. It conducts orientation programs for girls, sponsors fashion shows and in general makes itself very useful. The Girls' Glee Club does what most glee clubs do—it sings.

Women's athletics include such sports as archery, ping-pong, and bowling but are not stressed because the majority of the girls on the campus are too busy studying afternoons preparatory to dating at night.

May Day is an annual celebration sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma and involving much flitting about on the grass in the Arboretum. The May Queen is elected by the whole campus but AKG selects the nominees—which caused one group of girls whose choice wasn't named to form a petition protesting this method of selection on the grounds that it was "undemocratic."

Bill Melone once said that the purpose of the Woman's Association is "cooperation with the student body." And so far, few of the boys have been complaining about lack of response.

The Woman's Association boasts of an enrollment of 401 members for the year '38-'39, the largest number of co-eds to attend the University. All women enrolled in the University are automatically members of the Woman's Association. This organization is the governing body of the entire woman's student body and sponsors all women's interest on the campus. Throughout the year, greater emphasis has been made to put a new emphasis on progress already begun rather than to initiate anything new.

At the beginning of the school year a dance was given by the Association at the Tin Can, honoring the new girls in the University. A co-ed ball was given on May Day with the newly elected officers leading the figure.

The Woman's Association made contributions to other organizations on the campus and also furnished the Ladies Lounge in Woollen Gymnasium.

During the Fall quarter, the Association awarded a loving cup to the co-ed residence having the best decorations for Homecoming day.

At the request of the graduate women, two graduates were added to the Woman's Council, making that representation three instead of one.

The membership of the Athletic Association is comprised of the entire Woman's Association. There was a very active interest and participation in the various sports offered throughout the year.

In the fall, tennis, badminton, archery, fencing, and swimming were offered. During the winter the most important sports were fencing, basketball, and bowling. The fencing team enjoyed a victorious tour with matches with several northern colleges. Archery and tennis were the favorite sports of the spring quarter.

During the spring quarter, the Athletic Association was hostess to women from seven North Carolina colleges participating in the Carolina Play Day. Swimming, archery, badminton, tennis, and volley ball were the sports offered for this day.

A picnic supper for all participants was held in Battle-Park after the Play Day winners were announced.

The Women's Athletic Council, under the leadership of Mrs. Beard and Katherine Fleming, strove to make the year '38-'39 outstanding in greater interest and greater participation for the Women's athletics. With Woollen Gymnasium always at the co-eds' disposal, the Women's Athletic Association became a more active body on the campus.

In the late spring, letters and numerals were awarded to the outstanding participants in the various sports. They were awarded to the winners of the various tournaments held throughout the year. Women's Athletic Council keys were awarded to all members of the council.

This year marked the third birthday of the YWCA on our campus. Its progress in that short time has been slow but yet penetrating and positive. The YWCA as an organization has been a pioneer in helping woman find her place in the world, and it is hoped that this purpose will bind fruition in helping her find her place on the Carolino campus.

The aim of the association this year has been to prepare the girls in their thinking so that they would be able to benefit more profitably from the Institute of Human Relations. The YWCA office has become better equipped and is coming to be the active administrative center of the program.

Carolina's athletic squads in the 1938-39 year were under the same coaches who turned out excellent athletic teams the previous year. The track team under Coaches Fetzer and Ranson won both Southern Conference and Big Five indoor and outdoor track titles. Coach Ranson's cross country team dominated the Southern Conference meet held here and won the Conference crown easily. Carolina's tennis squad, coached by J. F. Kenfield, was forced to relinquish its claim to the mythical national tennis championship, but retained Southern Conference and Big Five leadership. The boxing and wrestling teams, under Coaches Ronman and Quinlan, annexed Big Five crowns. The football, basketball, baseball and golf teams won over one-half their games, but did not gain any championships. Fencing, swimming, and lacrosse, three newly inaugurated sports, fared well in their first year of intercollegiate competition.

Coach Skidmore announced his resignation as head basketball coach effective July 1. W. F. Lange, assistant football coach for the past few years, was chosen to succeed him.

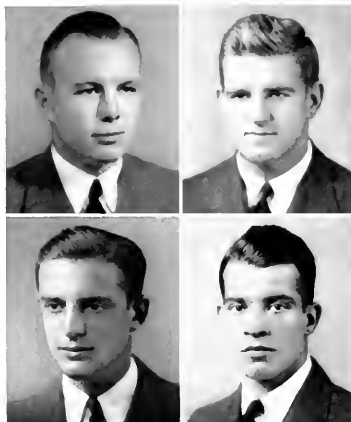

With the completion of Woollen Gymnasium in the spring of 1938, athletics at Carolina took a new lease on life. The basketball team moved onto the spacious courts of the gymnasium, leaving the Tin Can entirely to the freshmen. The boxing and wrestling squads also transferred their quarters to the new building. Under Coach Ed Jamerson, the newly organized Carolina swimming team trained in Bowman Gray Memorial Pool. Besides facilities for varsity sports, the gymnasium contains numerous intramural basketball, badminton, and handball courts and needed office space for the Athletic Department.

The 1938 Carolina football team had a fairly successful season in its third year under Coach Wolf's tutelage. High spots of the season were the 7-0 victory over N. Y. U. and the 0-0 "moral victory" which the Tar Heels gained over the Fordham Rams. Duke, the Southern Conference and Big Five champions, soundly trounced the Tar Heels 14-0.

Steve Maronic, Co-Captain who played almost sixty minutes of every game at tackle and who made thirteen consecutive extra points during the year, was named on several All-American teams. Watson, Stirnweiss, Kline, and Woodson were also named on various all-star teams.

U. N. C.—14, WAKE FOREST—6

Under a blistering sun, 15,000 people watched the Tar Heels successfully open their 1938 season with a 14 to 6 triumph over a surprisingly strong Wake Forest eleven. The Deacons got off to a flying start when big John Jett, sophomore end, blocked a Carolina punt in the end zone to put Wake Forest ahead, 6-0. Early in the second quarter Jim Lalanne tossed a 12-yard pass to Jim Mallory, who was standing in the end zone, to tie the score. Co-Captain Steve Maronic put the Tar Heels out in front with a perfect placement boot for the extra point. North Carolina added another 7 points late in the fourth quarter when Jack Kraynick lunged over from the 1-yard line and Maronic again converted the extra point.

U. N. C.—21, N. C. STATE—0

For the second straight year Carolina invaded Riddick Stadium and returned home with a 3 touchdown victory. George Radman scored all three markers to lead the Blue and White gridders to victory. The first two touchdowns came in the second quarter, one on a 25-yard pass from Lalanne to Radman. Jim Mallory set up the final caunter with a 45-yard return of an intercepted pass late in the fourth quarter.

Steve Maronic kept his record intact as he added all three extra points.

U. N. C.—14, TULANE—17

A Homecoming Day crowd of 22,000 people saw Bronco Brunner, Tulane's All-Southeastern halfback, prove too much for the Tar Heels defense as the Green Wave fought its way to a 17-14 victory. After spotting the Green Wave a touchdown, George Stirnweiss crashed off tackle from the 1-yard line to even the count, but Tulane countered a few minutes later with a field goal from the 17-yard line which proved to be the margin of victory. Co-Captain George Watson accounted for Carolina's second touchdown in the third quarter on a 25-yard run around his own left end.

U. N. C.—7, N. Y. U.—0

Outgained, but not outfought, the Tar Heels took advantage of a 35-yard scoring pass from Stirnweiss to Radman to hand N. Y. U. its first defeat of the year 7-0. After this one scoring thrust, Carolina resorted to a defensive game. The sensational punting of George Stirnweiss and the outstanding line play of All-American Steve Maronic kept the Violets from seriously threatening the Tar Heel goal.

U. N. C.—34, DAVIDSON—0

For its fifth game of the year Carolina journeyed to Davidson and after being out-played during the first half, came to life in the second half to win 34 to 0. Radman scored twice while Stirnweiss, Lalanne, and Kraynick each crossed the goal line once. Maronic added four extra points in four attempts to keep his record unmarred.

U. N. C.—0, DUKE—14

Thirty-five thousand people braved a drizzling rain to see Duke's Blue Devils hand the Tar Heels their second and worst defeat of the year, 14 to 0. Eric Tipton scored first for the Devils in the second quar-

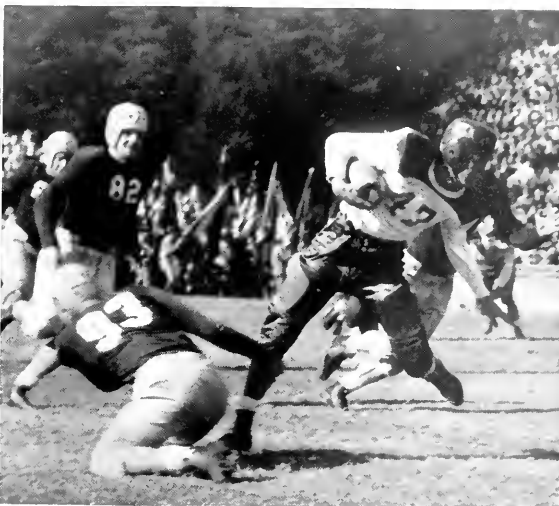

The game, which was played in a driving rain, was marred by frequent fumbles. Stirnweiss sparked the Tar Heel defense and attack. The fast little quarterback scored the lone touchdown of the game midway of the third quarter on a five-yard dash around end. A few minutes later he returned a punt 81 yards only to have a penalty nullify the play. The Gobbles threatened early in the game when a fake punt play took them to Carolina's four-yard line but the Tar Heels took the ball on downs.

ter and Bob O'Mara crashed over from the 2-yard line soon after the half. Although Stirnweiss made several long runs, Carolina was never able to put on a sustained drive. Only once did they penetrate the Blue Devils' 15-yard line, but here a pass interception stopped the threat.

famed Fordham Rams to a 0-0 deadlock. The North Carolinians turned in their best performance of the season, and the play of Stirnweiss, Maronic, and Woodson will not soon be forgotten. Late in the second period the Tar Heels attempted a fake field goal from the Fordham 23 but the pass from Maronic to Watson was incomplete. Twice in the last quarter the Rams attempted field goals, but both attempts failed. Neither team seriously threatened.

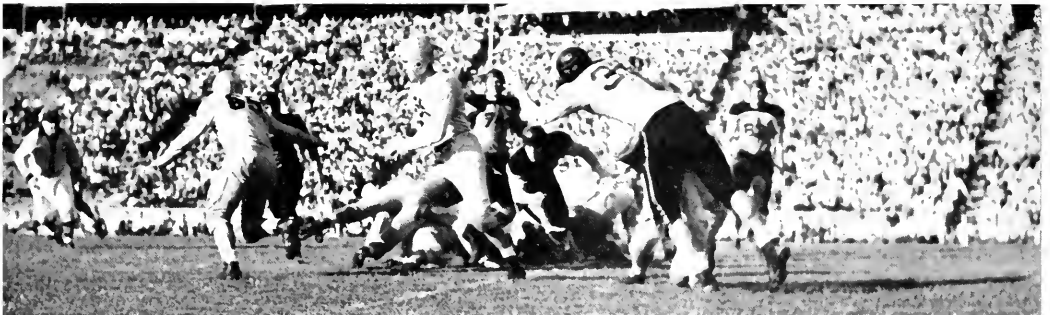

U N C.—20, VIRGINIA—0

Scoring by every means possible, the Tar Heels ended the season with a 20 to 0 victory over their annual Turkey Day rivals, Virginia. Playing on a snow-swept gridiron, the fleet Carolina backs were not able to get underway until the third quarter. The Tar Heels went ahead in the first half with Maronic's field goal and a safety and led 5 to 0 at the intermission. In the second half the Blue and White came back strong to score two touchdowns, an extra point, and a safety. Kraynick and Stirnweiss scored the six pointers while Maronic kept his record clean with his thirteenth extra point.

The 1938 Carolina track team regained the state and Southern Conference supremacy which it had relinquished to Duke in 1936. The two-mile relay team and the hurdling team which entered the Penn relays brought credit to the Tar Heels. Richards, a consistent winner in the javelin, Hubbard in the discus, and Lane in the dashes, all of whom were counted on for points in every meet, were out with injuries for the season.

Princeton defeated the "Flying Tar Heels" 50 to 76 in the first meet of the year. Corpening set a new Carolina record of .147 in winning the 120-yard high hurdles. March in tying with Wise of Princeton for first place in the high jump, set a new Carolina record of 6' 1 $\frac{3}{8}$ ". Hendrix nosed out Applegate in the 880-yard race in the time of 1:55.4, a new field record. March in the 220-yard low hurdles and Crockett in the two-mile run won other first places for Carolina. Wise, in winning the shot put, set a new field record of 46' 4". The mile run, a feature of the meet, saw Bradley of Princeton set a Fetzter field record of 4:16.8 to beat Jim Davis to the tape by 1.4 seconds. Another close race of the meet between Whitman of Princeton and Deaton saw Whitman win the 220-yard dash in :22.7.

In the meet with Virginia at Charlottesville "The Flying Tar Heels" took eight first places and a clean sweep in the two-mile, winning 76-50. March scored 13 points by placing first in the 220-yard low hurdles, tying for first in the high jump and taking second in the broad jump, to lead the Carolina scoring. Davis had the mile race all his own in winning in the slow time of 4:25. Holmes in the 100 and Deaton in the 440 took the only first places for the Tar Heels in the dashes. Fuller of Virginia set a new Virginia record of 1:47 in beating Corpening and March to the tape in the 110-yard high hurdles. Crockett, Gordon, and Hall made a clean sweep for Carolina in the 2-mile run. White in the 880 and Hilton in the javelin, scored other firsts for the Tar Heels.

Carolina won the A A U meet at Chapel Hill with a score of 70½, even though the hurdlers and distance men were competing in the Penn Relays. Duke was second with 42½ points and N C State third with 9. Hall won the 5000 meter run in the record time of 16:40.2. Other first place winners for Carolina were Slagle in the shot put, Hilton in the javelin, and Holmes in the 400 meter low hurdles. Milan Zari, former N C State track star, set a new record of 1:49.9 in the discus to far out throw all his competitors.

In the Penn Relays the hurdling team of Walker, Graham, March, and Corpening finished third, behind Virginia and Dartmouth. The two mile relay team composed of Davis, Hendrix, White, and Wakeley came in fourth, trailing Manhattan, Indiana, and Michigan to the tape.

Georgia eked out a victory over "The Flying Tar Heels" 66½-59½ in the next meet. Corpening led the Tar Heels with first places in the 120 yard high hurdles and the broad jump and a second place in the 220 yard low hurdles for a total of 13 points. His time of 1:46 in the high hurdles broke the field record of 1:47 which he had set in the Princeton meet. In the mile run Davis had little trouble in finishing ahead of Frederickson and his teammate Troutman in 4:24.5. Deaton won the 220 yard dash in 22.5, and Hendrix took the 880 yard run in 1:56.2. Lumpkin set a new field record of 43' 9 1/4" in winning the shot put. Georgia's preponderance of strength in the field events enabled her to win the meet.

Regaining their hold on the Southern Conference crown in the meet held at Durham, the Tar Heels scored 59 1/2 points to 50 1/2 for Duke, the runner-up. Davis and Corpening took the only first places scored by Carolina, but numerous second and third places enabled Carolina to win. Davis, running the mile in 4:17.5, came within one-tenth of a second of the Con-

"The Flying Tar Heels" avenged last year's defeat at the hands of Duke in this year's meet. Corpening, taking first places in the 110-yard high hurdles and broad jump and second in the 220-yard low hurdles for a total of 13 points, placed Carolina in the 68-63 victory. Crockett, White, Dudley, Jones, March, and Winbourne, who tied in the high jump, also scored first places for Carolina. The Tar Heels made clean sweeps of the half mile and the two-mile events; the Blue Devils won all three places in the 220-yard dash.

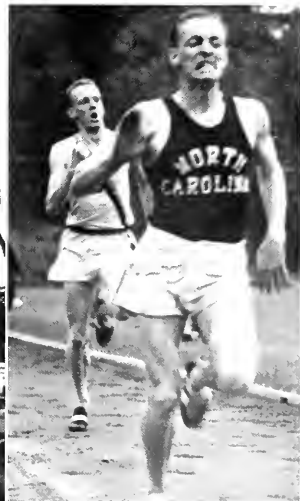

In the Millrose Games held February 4 at Madison Square Garden, the North Carolina relay team, composed of Davis, Morrison, White, and Hendrix, repeated their win of last year in the two-mile relay. They finished in the excellent time of 7:48, ahead of Manhattan, Purdue, Rhode Island State, and Indiana.

Led by Bill Corpening, who scored 12 points and broke 2 records, the Tar Heels recaptured the Southern Conference Indoor Track title in the meet held here February 24 and 25. The Tar Heels tallied 52 points, to 30 for Maryland and 25½ for Duke, last year's titleholder. Corpening won the broad jump with a record-breaking leap of 22' 11", and then set a new mark of 6' 1¼" in the high jump in winning that event. Tom Holmes took first in the 70-yard low hurdles in .7.9 for the Tar Heels' only other first place in the meet. Jimmy Davis finished second to Mason Chronister of Maryland in the mile run, a feature of the meet.

The loss of four starting men from the 1938 team considerably weakened the White Phantoms in their attempt to equal the fine records of teams of the past. Although getting off to a slow start, the Tar Heels won enough games to get a bid to the Southern Conference tournament. As the season closed the Phantoms began to hit their stride and won five out of the last six games.

The White Phantoms easily took two warm up games with Atlantic Christian College and Catawba. In a slow game with Princeton Carolina was handed its first defeat of the season by a score of 30 to 20. Carolina, after trailing throughout the first half, managed to pull up at the first of the second half, to tie the score at 15-15. After this Princeton took things in her own hands and went on to win. Two sophomores, Lester Branson and Jimmie Howard, stood out for Carolina by holding Princeton's high scoring forwards to a total of 13 points.

Davidson with a veteran team proved too strong for the Tar Heels. With Bill McCachren's fine floor game and George Glamack's last half scoring spurt Carolina was able to give Davidson a good fight.

On the Virginia trip Carolina dropped the first game to Virginia by a score of 29-37. The next night, however, the Phantoms came to life and with Jimmie Howard scoring 12 points trounced VMI 35-28. In their third game in as many nights the Tar Heels upset their traditional rival, W. & L. After trailing 22-19 at the half, Carolina, with towering George Glamack racking up 17 points, was able to show its best form to win.

Carolino returned to Woollen Gymnasium for their next tilt and lost to the league-leading Wake Forest Deacons by a score of 57-37. Ben Dilworth, who played a bang-up floor game, and Paul Severin, who scored 13 points, led the Carolino attack.

Carolino, on her second northern venture, bounced back in the win column by defeating V. P. I. in a 35-34 thriller. On the following night the Tar Heels were nosed out by Maryland in an extra period game. With 30 seconds left in the extra period Maryland's All-Southern guard, George Knepley, sank a shot from midcourt to give Maryland a 34-32 victory. Another close game was lost to Navy on the following night to end an unsuccessful trip.

Returning to the old North State, the White Phantoms were still unable to display a winning punch and dropped a slow game to N. C. State. Following the State game the Tar Heels journeyed over to Wake Forest and proceeded to revenge the previous defeat handed them by taking a 56-54 victory. Bill Watson's last minute goal provided the winning margin.

Maryland, showing a superb passing attack, dropped Carolina for the second time to the tune of 66-41. Ben Dilworth was the only Carolina player able to hit the basket with any consistency. He sank five field goals and one foul shot.

Rebounding from the defeat handed them by Maryland, Carolina took the next five games in a row. V. M. I. was the first to feel the sting of the revived Tar Heels. Next came Davidson, who through the fine playing of Ben Dilworth and Paul Severin, was not able to match the scoring ability of the White Phantoms.

Carolina continued its winning streak by dropping Duke in a game packed with action. With the probability of a tournament bid hinging on the outcome, neither team was able to get a comfortable lead. Paul Severin and George Glamack assured Carolina of a victory by caging a total of 25 points together. Virginia and N. C. State were the next victims of White Phantoms. By stopping State 40-25, revenge was gained for a previous defeat.

The season ended for the Phantoms at Durham where a hard-fighting Duke team outfought Carolina to win 41-38.

Carolina again was unable to get past the first round in the tournament. Although ahead up to the last minute of play a crisp shot gave Clemson a one-point lead which won the game. The whole Carolina team played well but was not able to match Clemson's last second spurt. The final score was 44-43.

The followers of the Tar Heels look forward to next year's team, as all of this year's players will be back. The presence of four sophomores, Jimmie Howard, Paul Severin, George Glamack, and Lester Branson, and the return of Captain Bill McCachren and Ben Dilworth promise to give Carolina next season one of her most formidable quints in years.

The 1938 Tar Heel baseball team hung up a creditable record in Southern Conference competition, winning twelve and losing six. Against teams of the Big Five, Carolina won five and lost five, three of them to Duke. The Heels beat Dartmouth 4-1 and Navy 7-5 in their only games with teams outside the Southern Conference.

Before the season opened Matty Topkins, star shortstop on last year's team, was laid out with pneumonia. George Stirnweiss was shifted from second base to fill his position, and Burke Craver moved into Stirnweiss's vacated post.

The first game of the season against Richmond was won handily 10-2 behind Hudson's three-hit pitching and Burnette's two home runs. Dartmouth fell 4-1 in the face of Hudson's two-hit performance; Burnette with two singles and four stolen bases again led the Carolina attack.

In their first Big Five encounter, the Heels emerged victorious over N. C. State 6-5 after an uphill fight. Cox's single in the ninth with the bases loaded sparked a 4-run rally in that inning which won the game. Wake Forest triumphed over Carolina 4-2 in the next game, one in which five Carolina errors proved costly. Carolina won over Virginia 10-5, over V. M. I. 7-6 in ten innings, and over Washington and Lee 14-1 on an invasion of Virginia. Foy Grubb's ninth inning single scored Hal Bissett with the run which beat N. C. State 7-5 in the next game of the season, played at Clinton. Carolina humbled Wake Forest 12-9 at Wake Forest in a free slugging contest Bissett and Burnette with three hits each paced the Carolina attack. The next two opponents, Davidson and Virginia, fell easy victims to the Heels by scores of 11-6 and 16-3, respectively. N. C. State broke Bud Hudson's winning streak at 6 straight in winning over Carolina 8-3. Little Eddie Berlinki and Pitcher Greene featured for State. Navy fell 7-5 behind Davis's 8-hit pitching. Gillam, with a 400-ft. home run, and Nethercutt, with a triple and single, led the Carolina hitting. Coming from behind to score four runs in the ninth inning after two men were out, Carolina nosed out N. C. State 10-8 in the final game with the Wolfpack. On a second invasion of Virginia, Carolina triumphed over V. M. I. 4-0. Hudson allowed only five hits in pitching the only shut-out of the year registered by a Tar Heel moundsman. Richmond shellacked the Heels 10-2 in the next game of the trip. Bissett's home run featured Carolina's 13-0 victory over Maryland in the last encounter of the invasion.

The final three games of the season, all played with Duke, resulted in three defeats for Carolina. At Durham, Duke, led by Eric Tipton, who hit two home runs, jumped on Parker's offerings for a 4-1 victory. Duke took a 10-8 decision over Carolina at Greensboro in a game marked by heavy hitting and loose fielding. Carolina erred eight times, Duke thrice. George Nethercutt, with three hits, and Frank Cox, who turned in several brilliant catches in the outfield, performed best for Carolina. In the final game of the series played at Chapel Hill, Duke triumphed 5-3. Tipton's home run in the eighth inning was the big blow in the rally which overcame a 3-2 Carolina lead.

Tom Burnette, captain this year, was the leading slugger on the team. He led the team in home runs and maintained a .392 batting average. George Nethercutt, who with Hal Bissett is co-captain of the 1939 team, batted .440 to pace the team. Grubb, Stirnweis, and Parker also hit over the three hundred mark. Bud Hudson, who won eight and lost two, had the best record of the regular pitchers.

North Carolina's 1939 boxing team had a fairly successful season in their third year under Coach Ronman. They won two matches, tied one and lost three out of the six that they fought. Their two victories, however, were scored over N. C. State and Duke, and enabled them to win the Big Five Boxing Championship. In the Southern Conference tournament held at Columbia the Tar Heels were runner-up to Maryland for the title.

In the first match of the season the Tar Heel mittmen lost to The Citadel at Charleston 5-3. Hubbard, Dickerson, and Gennett won their matches on clean cut decisions for the Tar Heels' points.

Carolina defeated N. C. State 6½-1½ for their first victory of the year. Billy Winstead, Sam McFalls, Andy Gennett, Ed Dickerson, Ed Hubbard, and Bob Hermson punched out victories and Bob Farris fought to a draw with Paul Abrams.

Virginia took the measure of the Tar Heels 6½-1½ in the next match of the year. Billy Winstead and Andy Gennett scored Carolina's only points on a decision and a draw respectively. Hubbard, Palanske, and Dickerson scrapped gamely but lost close decisions.

V. P. I. upset the Tar Heel team 5-3 in a match at Blacksburg. Gennett, Hubbard, and Dickerson decisioned their opponents; Billy Winstead suffered his first loss of the year, a close decision to Billy Austin of the Gobblers.

Continuing their somewhat erratic course, the Tar Heels fought a favored Maryland team to a 4-4 "moral victory." Hermson, Dickerson, and Gennett scored decisive wins; Walt Palanske won by a forfeit when his opponent failed to appear for the bout.

The climax of the season for the boxing team was their 5½-2½ victory over the Duke team. Winstead, Gennett, Dickerson, Saunders, and Palanske came through with victories, all of them decisions except Palanske's, who won by a technical knockout. Claude Sapp and Bill Gardener of Duke fought to a draw in a bout marked by toe-to-toe slugging.

In the Southern Conference tournament held at Columbia, Carolina placed second to Maryland. Billy Winstead won the bantamweight Championship for the Tar Heels, the only one they secured. He defeated Berry of Clemson in the final round after punching out a decision in the semi-finals over Dorr of Maryland, who had beaten him in a previous bout. Gennett, Dickerson and Saunders all reached the finals, only to lose by decisions.

Winstead and Saunders entered the National Collegiate Tourney at Madison, Wisconsin, but were eliminated by decisions in the first round.

The 1938 North Carolina Tennis team had to relinquish its long-standing claim to the mythical national tennis championship. This year's team sorely felt the loss of four lettermen from the 1937 squad. Out of thirteen matches, the Tar Heels won ten and tied one. The two losses brought the Tar Heels' total to four since 1929, compared with 136 wins over that period.

The Tar Heel netmen opened the season with a 9-0 win over Williams. None of the Carolina players lost a set or were extended in obtaining their victories.

Yale next journeyed here for a three-day series. Carolina emerged victorious 8-3, though not without a scare in the first day's play. C. Rood, Foreman, Rider, Strain, B. Rood, and Henderson won singles matches; Rider-Strain and Foreman-C. Rood scored victories in the doubles. The contests the second day resulted in a 5-5 tie as rain stopped the proceedings. Foreman, Farrell, Rider, and B. Rood defeated their opponents in the singles and Farrell and B. Rood eked out a victory in the doubles. Not since 1935, when Princeton defeated them, had the Tar Heels failed to win a match. The next day's contests were all cancelled on account of rain.

The Tar Heels scored a victory over Cornell 5-0 as rain again intervened to stop the matches. Foreman, C. Rood, Strain, B. Rood, and Rider had little trouble in defeating their opponents.

In Durham Carolina defeated Duke 9-0 for the tenth straight year. The matches were much closer than the score would indicate, many of the games going to deuce several times. C. Rood won over Merchant 6-2, 6-2; Strain over Collins 6-1, 10-8; Foreman over Parsons 6-1, 7-5; B. Rood over Hulme 6-1, 5-7, 6-1; Rider over Word 6-2, 6-2; Farrell over Doyle 6-0, 6-1; B. Rood-Farrell over Hulme-Doyle 6-1, 6-1; Foreman-Gragg over Merchant-Collins 3-6, 7-5, 6-3; and Beadles-Corver over Ward-Parsons 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

The Blue Devils fared better in a return engagement with the Tar Heels played in Chapel Hill a week later, losing by only 8-1. In the final doubles match Henderson and Beadles could not work together and lost to Ward and Parsons 6-1, 1-6, 4-6. Strain, Foreman, B. Rood, Rider, Farrell, and Rawlings turned in victories in the singles, Rawlings alone losing a set. Foreman-Rawlings and Farrell-B. Rood defeated their opponents in the doubles matches.

Davidson's tennis team formerly unbeaten, next fell victim to the Tar Heel netmen 9-0. B. Rood, playing in the No. 1 position, was the only Carolina player to lose a set.

On May 2 the Tar Heels played Williams in the first match of their annual northern tour. The 7-2 victory which the Tar Heels gained after previously blanking the Williams' netmen here presaged the defeats that they were to suffer in the next few days. C. Rood lost to Jarvis 1-6, 3-5; Strain defeated Collesler 6-1, 6-2; B. Rood over Poin 6-3, 6-4; Farrell over Stetson 6-1, 6-3; Rider over Johnson 6-1, 6-4; Jarvis-Shonk over Foreman-Gragg 6-1, 6-4; Farrell-C. Rood over Collesler-Stanton 6-3, 9-7; and Strain-Rider over Johnston-Pallock 6-2, 6-4.

Carolina barely managed to eke out a victory over Harvard 5-4 in the next contest of the northern trip. C. Rood, Foreman, B. Rood, Farrell, and Rider won their singles matches for the only Carolina points.

Against Yale the following day the Tar Heels suffered their first defeat 7-2. Stephens won over C. Rood 3-5, 6-2, 6-2; Dalrymple over Strain 0-6, 4-1, 5-4; Richards over B. Rood 6-3, 5-7, 6-2; Kingsley over Rider 6-1, 3-5, 7-5; Dalrymple-Henchcliff over Foreman-C. Rood 6-3, 6-1; Stephens-Stephens over Farrell-B. Rood 6-3, 6-1; and Campbell-Kingsley over Rider-Strain 6-1, 6-4 for the Yale points. Foreman defeated Henchcliff 6-3, 6-3 and Farrell defeated Campbell 6-2, 6-4 for the Tar Heels' only victories.

Princeton caught the Tar Heels on the down-swing and handed them a 5-4 shellacking. Farrell defeated Baker 6-2, 6-1; B. Rood defeated Lauck 3-5, 5-0, 6-4; Rider defeated Wendell 2-5, 6-3, 6-4; C. Rood lost to Podesta 4-6, 3-6; Foreman lost to Winslow 3-5, 6-3, 4-6; Strain lost to Martin 4-5, 4-6; Farrell-C. Rood defeated Lauck-Peeler 6-2, 6-3; Foreman-Gragg lost to Podesta-Baker 1-5, 3-5; and Strain-Rider lost to Martin-Winslow 1-6, 4-5. At the conclusion of the first doubles match the Tar Heels held a 4-3 lead but they were unable to take either of the other doubles contests for the necessary one point.

Carolina returned to winning ways by defeating N. Y. U. 9-0 the next day. Most of the matches went to three sets before the Tar Heels could secure their needed points.

In the final game of the trip the Tar Heels defeated Lehigh 5-1. C. Rood, Foreman, B. Rood, Rawlings, Strain, and Farrell scored singles victories and Rider-Strain and Rawlings-B. Rood outstroked their opponents in the doubles.

In the state tournament the Carolina team dominated throughout. Farrell, Strain, B. Rood, and Foreman were the four players who reached the semi-finals. Farrell emerged victor over B. Rood 6-1, 6-2, 5-8, 8-5 in the final round. Farrell and B. Rood won the doubles championship over their teammates Foreman and Gragg.

T E N N I S

The Southern Conference tournament likewise was overrun by the Tar Heels, Foreman won the title by out-stroking B. Road 4-6, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4. Foreman and Carver disposed of Askin and Ritzenberg of Maryland 3-6, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1 in the finals of the doubles.

Next year's team should prove better than this year's aggregation. Co-Captains Bill and Carl Road, Charley Rider, Bill Rowlings, and Wilford Grogg, all lettermen on the 1938 squad, will be back. In addition Eddie Fuller, who played in the No. 3 position in 1935 and 1937, will be eligible for competition. John Henderson and Aston Beadies, reserves, will also return to play on the 1939 team. From the freshman team Wolt Meserole, Dave Early, and Chuck Harnden should see plenty of action next year.

Led by Captain Johnson Harriss, Walter Blackmer, and George Zink, Coach Chuck Quinlan's 1939 wrestling team won the Big Five Championship. The team took four out of seven meets, losing to Navy, V. M. I., and W & L. Carolina's most impressive victory was a 27½ to 4½ win over Duke.

The team's best individual record was made by Zink, who lost only one match. Blackmer and Harriss won five and four matches, respectively. Other members of the team were Broadfoot, Walker, Joyner, Forrest, Torrey, and Clements.

Carolina's prospects in wrestling for the future appear to be the brightest in the history of the sport at the University. In addition to the fine varsity material returning, this year's undefeated freshman team will offer a splendid array of wrestling talent.

The 1938 Carolina Cross Country team had a very successful season; they won three meets, lost one, and annexed the Southern Conference Championship. The team was led by Captain Bill Hendrix, who took first place in each of Carolina's meets.

On their northern trip the Tar Heels lost to a strong Navy Team 33 to 25, but downed Maryland 24 to 31. At Annapolis Hendrix again took first place with Crockett and Wakeley fourth and sixth respectively. On the following day at Maryland, the meet was featured by a duel between Jim Kehoe of Maryland and Captain Bill Hendrix of Carolina with Hendrix coming from behind in the last fifty yards to take first place. Crockett, Morrison, and Wakeley tied for fourth to cinch the meet for Carolina.

To top off the season the Carolina Harriers captured the Southern Conference meet. In rain and mud Captain Hendrix set a new course

Captain

North Carolina's Golf Team made an impressive showing in 1938. Handicapped by the loss of Letterman Clarence Kluttz, the team composed of Captain Dupont Kirven, Hudson Boyd, Charlie Diffendal, and Neal Herring won six out of nine matches. The Tar Heels defeated Hampden-Sidney, Wake Forest, N. C. State, Pennsylvania, Davidson, and William and Mary Georgia, Duke, and the Citadel won by narrow margins over the club.

In the State and Southern Conference tournament the team did well, finishing second to Duke in the former and third in the latter.

SWIMMING

With the completion of Woolen gymnasium, swimming was inaugurated as an official sport of the University for the first year. Carolina's team won two matches out of 6, scoring victories over N. C. State and Washington and Lee.

The swimming teams in the next few years promise to improve steadily. Coach Jamerson's freshman team will next year furnish several capable swimmers for the varsity. In addition, most of the members of this year's varsity will return. More interest should be shown in the future by the students as the team improves its record in intercollegiate competition.

FENCING

The 1939 North Carolina fencing team won five out of ten matches. This was the second year that Carolina entered a fencing team in intercollegiate competition. Under the captaincy of Allan Bloom, the Tar Heels won their matches with William and Mary, V. P. I., Rutgers, Virginia, and Duke.

The team participated in the Eastern intercollegiate fencing tournament held at Dartmouth on March 18 and placed sixth. Three Carolina men gained individual trophies. John Finch won a gold trophy by winning first place in class C epee; Captain Allan Bloom tied for second place in class B sabre competition to win a silver trophy; and Joe Book, by taking third in class B foil, won a bronze trophy.

Replacing the Pan-Hellenic Council in 1926, the Interfraternity Council has since operated with "sovereign power to regulate and control all fraternity affairs as are common to the parties" of the Council agreement. A self-interest organization of fraternity presidents, it works closely with the Faculty Committee on Fraternities and the Student Council. The first-named agency has been delegated power by the faculty to handle such matters as fraternity eligibility to initiate and other faculty and administrative regulations. The latter group, of course, exercises general control over conduct and it is in a subordinate sphere that the Interfraternity acts in the dual role of protecting as well as disciplining its member groups.

The Interfraternity Council sets forth various regulations concerning rushing and pledging procedures. It acts in cooperation with the faculty committee on matters of academic standards, and with the Dance Committee on matters of fraternity dance behavior, as their official association, it speaks in the name of Carolina fraternities on all questions where such an expression is necessary; and with the Student on matters of hazing and general conduct.

During the past year the Council presented two one-hundred dollar scholarships to the general scholarship fund of the University. This money is used specifically to aid worthy, but impecunious, scholars. It also donated one hundred dollars to the Carolina Political Union.

In keeping with its office of fraternity regulations, the Council this year instituted certain rules governing social conduct. They are: (1) that there be no bars in any fraternity houses, and (2) that no fraternity shall be allowed to sponsor any party at which intoxicating drinks are served. The rules are enforced by the members of the council and infractions incur heavy penalties.

Each year the Interfraternity Council sends two representatives to the National Interfraternity Conference held in New York. This year Wills Hancock of Oxford and Marvin Allen of Wilmington did the honors. They brought back the local council many suggestions which have aided in the management of the fraternities, both individually and collectively.

Beauty

QUEENS

As demonstrated here, a most photogenic young lady. But our admiration is for her eye-appeal the Sunday mornings after. Capable of the most distracting night Harry's can offer, or justifying the smoothest waltz the Tin Can will tolerate, she forwards the cause of the imports who strive to lift us from our social mire.

Miss Marguerite Williams

Naive Norcross, unintentionally impressive. A Chi O co-ed, happily representative of the new trend in Carolina co-eds, more feminine, less self conscious. She's a grace to the campus and certainly to the Yack.

11/24/44
Hosking - 11/24/44

Stimulus extraordinary to the business staff of this publication, she qualifies as the P U board's outstanding intangible asset. Removed from the campus only by the beery road to Randolph Macon, she enjoys and endures the dual situation of being a Carolina dated but co-ed hated import.

Miss Fresh Evans

The blonde version of the typical Raleigh promtrotter, with peculiar stamina and success. Now about to round out a decade of Carolina dances, with next decade's stag line already accumulating, she lends the German Club a pleasant consistency.

Miss Becky Williams

A frequent week-end diverter, diverting the Kappa Sigs most. More evident at parties than at dances, she well demonstrates her versatility at both. A beautiful advocate of the doctrine that woman's place is not in the home.

Finals again brought to a close another year of fun and frolic, and were especially successful in that they were held for the first time in the new gymnasium. Carolina unpasteurized! For too many pages we have taken you through the formal and posed intricacies of Carolina life. Now you dogs, we give it to you raw!

For decades classes have met in the morning, Prof. Koch has read the Christmas Carol, and the Old Well has been mystic and useless. Ninety-two point five would admit you to Phi Beta, and ninety-two dollars to "Beta Phi." But here is a different slant—mere presence qualifies you for any bull session, and predetermined capacity is not a prerequisite to the usual beer party.

These informalities are our third dimension, and although we must study we can't stop living. So, for a few short pages we present a candid campus—in udder reality.

• When the weather gets sticky, the perspiration rolls off me just like a Summer shower. If I didn't wear a HANES Undershirt, my top-shirt would be sopping wet and flopping around like a dog's ears. But the soft, absorbent knit of a HANES Undershirt cleans away the perspiration like a windshield wiper!

And that's a fact, gentlemen. A HANES Undershirt catches the perspiration at the pores . . . mops it up evenly . . . lets the air get at it . . . gives it a chance to evaporate. You feel cooler, look cooler. Your top-shirt stays neater!

See your HANES Dealer today, and lay in a stock of HANES Undershirts. They've got loads of tail-length . . . they can't creep up and wad at your waist! Get HANES Shorts, too — full-cut broadcloth. Or try HANES Crotch-Guard Sports. P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.
